PROTEIN TIMING THAT WORKS WHILE YOU REST

Training hard does not stop when your workout ends. Your body continues repairing muscle long after you leave the gym, especially during sleep. Fast digesting proteins work quickly, but they leave your system just as fast. When muscles need support for hours, a different approach is needed.

Casein Fusion is built for sustained muscle nourishment. Using a custom blend of micellar casein and milk protein concentrate, this formula releases amino acids slowly over time, supporting muscle tissue when fast proteins are no longer active.

Each serving delivers 25 grams of premium protein along with naturally occurring BCAAs and glutamine. These amino acids help support recovery, protect lean mass, and maintain muscle during extended periods without food.

Whether taken between meals or before bed, Casein Fusion helps support muscle maintenance, recovery, and consistency for athletes and active individuals who train hard and demand more from their nutrition.

FEED YOUR MUSCLES WHILE YOU REST

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

When should I take Casein Fusion?

It is best taken between meals or before bedtime to support slow amino acid release.

How is this different from whey protein?

Whey digests quickly. Casein digests slowly, providing extended muscle support over several hours.

Is this good for nighttime use?

Yes. Casein Fusion is ideal before sleep to support muscles during overnight fasting.

Suggested Use: Mix 1 scoop with 8 to 12 oz of water or milk. Consume between meals or before bedtime. Use daily to support sustained protein intake.
